

Curricula for Older Youth

This is an overview of materials designed for high school youth. These materials are offered through Cokesbury. While not all of these materials are specific to United Methodism, the theology expressed within them “fits” with United Methodist practice and teaching. Clicking on the links will take you to Cokesbury’s information for ordering and viewing of supplemental products to be used with these materials.

Sticky Faith: Churches are waking up to the reality that almost half of their high school students struggle deeply with their faith in college. Offering special high school 'Senior Seminars' or giving seniors a graduation Bible and hoping for the best are too little, too late. In response to this problem, the Fuller Youth Institute conducted a national study to answer the question: What can youth workers do to help students develop a lasting faith in God? By following high school seniors into their first three years of college to gain an understanding of the transition from high school to college, they found their answers. And Sticky Faith Curriculum for Teenagers enables youth leaders to impact to their students with a faith that sticks. This 10-session book and DVD study gives youth workers a theological and philosophical framework alongside real-world, road-tested programming ideas. The study is designed to help high school students develop a solid foundation that endures through the faith struggles they will face in college.

Wesley High School: Each of the 13 lessons contains step-by-step instructions to help teachers prepare and lead the discussion, with Bible background, tips for teaching high schoolers, and a variety of activities to help your students learn and apply the Bible lesson. The Teacher's Guide directs teachers as you use the brand-new student magazine, Blueprint, providing the exact location for each lesson, along with the additional articles, to help facilitate in-class use.

Forgiveness and Reconciliation: Coming Out on the Side of Grace: This youth mission study leads participants through the stages of forgiveness and reconciliation, beginning with biblical evidence that flawed human beings can forgive and ending with means of healing and living a grace-filled life. In between the study discusses ways to conquer anger, acknowledge wrongdoing, overcome pride, apologize and forgive.
