17. All Christians, including pastors, stand in need of God's grace. We acknowledge that we are far from perfect while striving to "go on to perfection". In Christian love, we hold one another accountable for our walk of faith and our calling as pastors. I stand before you as one, like all in this room, who confess our failings, seek God's forgiveness, and rejoice in God's amazing love that allows us to serve in the role of clergy within the United Methodist Church.

As to the specifics of the clergy within the New England Conference of the United Methodist Church, throughout the conference year our Cabinet has encountered instances where faithful clergy life and proper administration have had to be addressed. Recognizing our own humanity, gifts and growing edges, as District Superintendents, we have striven to do our supervisory and supportive work within the entire conference and at times have called in consultants, mediators, and others to work with us and all involved in these situations. In all cases we have partnered with one another, at times meeting as an entire Cabinet with individuals and/or discussed issues pertaining to the life and administration of clergy of this conference. We have done this work, and all that to which we are called in our appointments as District Superintendents within our meetings, conference calls, and always in close conversation and community with Bishop Devadhar.

As part of our calling and care, we have taken some actions throughout the year to strengthen pastoral effectiveness in specific appointments and in decisions affecting the placement of pastors. As with our entire ministry, we have proceeded in these conversations only after much prayer and consultation on many levels including pastors, local church Staff Parish Relations Committees, and others impacted by each situation. Where charges have been brought against clergy, they are being addressed consistent with the process as defined in the 2012 Book of Discipline.

At this time I can report that though saddened by some of this work, we are at peace with the decisions that have been made and can report that at this time all clergy are blameless.
